

Social- Personal

During the past week there was a decided revival in matters social. The homecomers from the summer resorts set the ball in motion and it will be kept spinning merrily during the coming week. There are many visitors now in the city and during the week numerous delightful social functions will be held in their honor, as well as others of a more pretentious nature. The tennis tournament of the Scranton Lawn club, with which the week will close, will bring many guests to the city, who will be entertained in various ways. It is expected that the coming tournament will eclipse all the previous efforts of the lawn club.

This will be the week par excellence of the college people. They are returning to the city from the different resorts of the mountains, country or seaside, where they whiled away a portion of their vacations, and are now preparing to return to their studies after a long last plunge in the social pool.

Miss Mary Torrey, of Jefferson avenue, entertained a number of her young lady friends at a luncheon Thursday afternoon. Those who attended were Miss Gearhart and her guests Miss Warner and Miss Gertrude Varner, of Illinois; Miss Alice Matthews, Miss Dole, of Ontario, N. Y.; Miss Sherer and Miss Anna Hand.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Matthews, of Wyoming avenue, gave a dancing party last night in honor of Miss Doolittle, of Waterville, N. Y., who is the guest of their daughter, Miss Alice Matthews. Miss Clara Tracey, of Towanda, assisted in receiving. Those who attended were: Misses Emma Jermyn, Kate Decker, Margaret Finley, Lello, Eloise and Evelyn Gilmore, May and Grace Kingsbury, May and Jessie Couse, Florence, Rosamond and Louise Seybolt, Miss Gearhart, Clara Simpson, Emma and Margaret Hanley, Mary Torrey, Maud Dinkel, Nettie Hanford, Miss Dale, Jessie Lawrence Fuller, Will Fuller, Miss Poor, Marion Hitchcock, Lizzie and Augusta Merrill, Carol Dickson, Emma Fuller, Emma Mott, Helen Sanderson, May Steel, Clara Brooks, Grace Sprague, Alice Bell, Eleanor Anderson, Janet Dickson, Mary Linn, Marion Crane, Louise Hill, Lulu Wells, Kathryn Winton, Elizabeth Winton, Miss McLeod, Bessie Shearer, Clara Tracy, Mary Bissell, H. Bissell, Fanny Hunt, Jessie Blair, Fanny Winton, Bessie Park, Lavina Dominick, Mattie Dominick and Cramer von Storch, Paul Bell, Charles Bell, Dwight Crane, Carl Welles, George Fuller, Lawrence Fuller, Will Fuller, Mr. Green, Dr. Pennypacker, Morris Fuller, Ray Wadham, of Wilkes-Barre; Mr. Orchard, Carbondale; Wm. Torrance, Carbondale; Fred Platt, Will Hanley, Will Torrey, John Poor, Bert Merrill, Percy Mott, Will Kingsbury, Charlie Kingsbury, Edward George, James Gearhart, Bevan Decker, Snyder Decker, Mr. Wright, Robert Wynder, Will Kirkpatrick, Harry Kirkpatrick, Claude Walker, Robert Frey, Ben Watson, Albert Watson, Selden Kingsbury, James Blair, Lucius Kennedy, Nick Stahl, John Brooks, Joseph Lynde, Edward Chase, Mr. Jamison, Albert Post, Ernest Gilmore, Harry Bries, Joseph Bries, Edward Moffat, Robin Archibald, Worth Scammon, Ralph Hull, Edward Sanderson, James Sanderson, Charles Sanderson, Albert Hunt, Everett Hunt, Thomas Dale, Jared Chittenden, Rollo Jermyn, Walter Jermyn, Mr. Nesbitt, Willard Matthews, Mortimer Fuller.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hand will give a dinner at their home on Jefferson avenue, Monday, at a farewell to their daughter, Miss Anna Hand, who is about to return to school to resume her studies.

On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Fuller will give a dancing party at their Jefferson avenue home in honor of their son, Mortimer Fuller.

The third annual tournament of the Scranton Lawn club will be held at the club grounds at Platt place Friday and Saturday afternoon. Its success is assured by the number and character of the entries received. Much interest is being displayed in this tournament and there will be a great outpouring of society people to witness the work of those who enter the contests. The prizes that will be awarded are as follows: Singles, first, pair of silver backed military brushes; second, silver backed hat brushes; first prize, silver backed clothes brushes. These brushes will be engraved with the initials of the Scranton Lawn club and the name of the event.

There is a movement on foot among some of the male members of the lawn club to somewhat alter the sphere of the lawn club and make it a more substantial part of the local social structure. The plan in view contemplates the purchase or lease of four or five new buildings upon which four or five courts could be laid out and a club house erected to be conducted on the plan of a country club. Such an institution would be novel and attractive and a delightful place for informal social affairs after practice in the courts, besides providing a stopping place for members of the club who might care to take a spin over the boulevard.

The following went to Maplewood yesterday where they will spend several days at William Connell's cottage: Mr. and Mrs. James A. McNulty, Miss Florence Edgar, Miss Emmeline Killam, Miss Mame Charlesworth, and Miss Mary Mason, Scranton; Miss Elizabeth Bentley, Miss Adelaide Dodge and Miss Blanche Wood, of Honesdale, and Miss Ora Dimick, of Ontario, N. WITH THE WHEELMEN

Short Snippets of Interest to Enthusiasts Over the Silent Steed.

CYCLERS TO GO INTO POLITICS

President Luscomb Urges Them to Take an Active Part in the Forthcoming Elections, with a View to Promoting the Cause of Better Roads—Other Paragraphs of Live Interest to All Admirers of the Wheel.

For the Saturday Tribune.

Announcement is made that the League of American Wheelmen has decided to take an active part in politics in the near future. President Luscomb has examined the situation and in view of the fact that the number of wheelmen is daily increasing, the demand for improved roads is more urgent. The following communication has been sent to the chief consuls of the Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Maryland, Missouri, Illinois and Ohio divisions: "The executive committee of the League of American Wheelmen will shortly take measures for an active campaign for highway improvement and general state laws preventing villages and cities from enacting special ordinances restricting the rights of wheelmen. As such legislation must be secured in the states, I write to ask if your division will co-operate with the national executive committee in the prosecution of this work. If so, will you advise me as to the best method of proceeding? Will you select a committee of your members to visit the consuls and when you elect senators and assemblies? Also, in which direction you deem such work most judicious. I am desirous that the league take such active part in the coming fall campaign as will convince representatives in the legislatures that wheelmen are not only organized and in such strength as to command attention to their reasonable demands from those who make our laws." The scheme of Mr. Luscomb is approved and will be acted upon at once by all the chief consuls. The executive committee of the league will also consider the president's circular at its next meeting.

Some good hints as to the proper exercise for those who wish to learn to the best advantage are contained in a recent interview with Champion Arny Zimmerman. In this interview he says: "Those who ride the wheel for health, as well as those who ride it for speed, will do well to devote a few minutes a day, in the morning and evening preferably to the use of the 'mud' and 'dunk' bells. These should be used in the most free and swinging action, and in addition there should be a certain amount of brisk walking down, after a ride. This is to set the inactive muscles to working. For those who wish to develop speed and enter for racing, there are many details to be observed. The first great essential is not to attempt to ride in any way. Eat what you feel inclined to, but avoid much pie, pastry and milk diets, and eat your fill of good meat and vegetables slowly, masticating well. The use of tobacco should be as limited as possible. The only other items are work, work and again work. Jump out of the bed in the morning, take a cold bath, use the clubs and bells for ten or fifteen minutes and eat a couple of crackers just to stay the stomach, then get out of the house and walk a mile or so, finishing with a slow jog trot run, just fast enough not to drag, until you are tired. This may be before or after meals. Riding should never be indulged in immediately after a hearty meal. Get out on the 'bike,' see that it is all right, mount and start to ride slowly, getting the pedalling automatically. Then increase to a good hard, level pace, according to the road, and continue for as long as possible, at least two miles, increasing the distance as the condition improves. Never spurt at the end nor in any way disperse yourself. Do this every day, without a miss, rain or shine, and the result will be apparent in a very few days."

GOSSIP OF THE STAGE.

Sousa has composed over forty marches.

A Chinese theatrical company is touring France.

Eugene Yaeye, the Belgian violin virtuoso, is coming to America on a concert tour.

Victory Bateman, Annie Barclay and Lottie Williams are this season with "Harbor Lights."

And now it is rumored that Lillian Russell and Perugini may kiss and make up! How nice!

Dan Sully will appear in two new plays this season. The first is "And Love Came," and "The Social Lion."

Augustin Daly, once a newspaper reporter, has just observed the quarter-century of his graduation into the theatrical business.

Henry Guy Carleton's new comedy, "Lem Kettle," in which Tim Murphy will star, will have its initial performance at Holyoke, Mass., on Sept. 3.

Herbert Beerbohm Tree's American repertoire will consist of "The Red Lamp," "The Ballad Monger," "A Bunch of Violets," "Hamlet" and "Merry Wives of Windsor."

One of the features of "Dr. Syntax," which Dr. Wolf Hopfer will produce, is a genuine fox hunt.

The fox will run across the stage, followed by a pack of hounds in full cry.

Richard Mansfield will open his season at the Herald Square theater, New York, Sept. 16, in "Japhet in Search of a Father," a dramatization of Captain Marryat's novel by Ernest Law, of Philadelphia.

Miss Rigg will arrive in New York early next week. The company will be rehearsed in New York for a week prior to Rhea's arrival and will then proceed to Halifax for final rehearsals. The tour opens in Halifax Sept. 10.

Robert Mantell, who will be managed by Augustin Daly, begins his season starting Sept. 3, in Salem, Mass. His repertoire at the commencement of the season will include "Monsters," "The Corsican Brothers," "Othello," "Hamlet" and "Parthian Shot."

Rose Coghlan has started the rehearsal of "The Merchant of Venice," the play in which she will be seen this season. The play is dramatization of Wilkie Collins' novel by C. de Grimm.

Miss Coghlan will play the dual role of Laurie Farlie and Anne Catherine. Julia Marryat will open a new theater at Port Huron today. On Monday she will open the new Grand Opera house in Dayton on Thursday and Friday and the Masonic Temple theater in Fort Wayne on Saturday. Miss Marlowe will go as far as Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

WHICH PAID B-S? The editor sat in his easy chair. An ominous frown on his face. For the foreman had sent some copy back. On account of want of space.

Those articles so good and bright. On the questions of the day. Had been crushed out to give full room To a dry goods ad display.

The editor fumed in a fretful mood, "Alas, for the owner's taste! A paper that might be a public boon Is rapidly going to waste!"

The literature that the people want. The news that would make them glad, Is sacrificed to accommodate A vulgar dry goods ad.

The editor carried his point next day. The proprietor acquiesced. And agreed that regular literature Would please the public best. The man of letters was full of gloom. The business manager frowned. And grudgingly there would be a change Before a year went round.

The brilliant editor wrote on. And filled, from morn till night. His columns with stuff from his gifted pen. For he loved so much to write. But the business end of the Morning Star Soon dwindled from bad to worse. And the owner quickly began to feel An attenuated purse!

The editor sat in his easy chair. On another eventful day. An ominous frown on his face again. For he hadn't received his pay! The office safe was empty now. And the bankrupt owner said. And even the editor sighed in vain For a big fat dry goods ad.

month, or make phenomenal bursts of speed, they have their compensations. Surely no conveyance lends itself more gracefully to varying moods and inclinations. If a well-shaded stone wall on a breezy hilltop invites the traveler to light his pipe and rest and dream awhile, the wheel is ever ready to stop turning. We did not relinquish the privilege of lingering by the brookside of the Highlands or on the hilltops where the hawk may be seen stretching for miles away, for all the honors won by racers. The advantage of the wheel is that it will go while we enjoy it, and stop when we are tired, and that is the way to get pleasure and benefit from a bicycle tour. The man who bends every effort to the sole purpose of making highly effective piston rods of his legs, misses all the fun of bicycling, except the sense of motion. The women wheelers, on the whole, are the most sensible, for they are not continually forcing the pace, which is the besetting sin of most of their male relatives. On a well-planned bicycle route the halting place for the night may usually be fixed for some point that is worth seeing. The wheelman who jogs comfortably along for forty or fifty miles of road in a day has some energy left to devote, for instance, to the beautiful gorge of the Genesee at Rochester, or the famous limestone formation at Trenton Falls. He also has time to express some vigorous opinions on the subject of roads to the intelligent farmer, and his remarks will be cogent and convincing particularly if he has just struggled through two miles of sand without a sidepath. At the end of a day's run, it is better to still retain some interest in human affairs, than merely to wish for oblivion slumber at the nearest hotel. Our advice to bicycle tourists is to travel neither too fast nor too far in a day, to confide their luggage to the express companies if they must carry more than a few pounds weight, and to keep their eyes and minds open to every novel and pleasing aspect of nature. With fair conditions of travel they will then see the country and enjoy it as they never have before, and will be glad that they live in the age that invented this wonderful source of amusement and recreation."

The latest scheme is that of a Chicago turman named Walsh to build in Boston, Chicago and some large city midway between the two, trotting tracks which will be encircled by a bicycle track for training purposes, which would go to the support of their particular track.

MINOR WHEEL WITNESS: The duty on imported wheels is reduced by the new tariff from 45 to 35 per cent.

The promoters of a twenty-four hour race in Australia lost $1,760 by the experiment.

Zimmerman has not appeared at a race meet either in France or England without breaking a record of some kind.

Wooden rims are generally supposed to be an American invention, but are now claimed to be the idea of a Frenchman.

A bicycle ordinance recently adopted by the city council of Waterville, Me., provides that lanterns shall be lighted "forty-five minutes after sundown."

James Michael, the 17-year-old Welsh long distance record breaker, may visit the United States shortly. He holds all the English records from forty miles up to 100.

Thus far captured more handicap events than any other class of rider. He returns to Syracuse in September where he will take a back at McIntire's long distance track records.

The recent League of American Wheelmen meet at Denver was national in name only, the visitors, with but few exceptions, coming from states west of the Mississippi river.

Racing tires are in too many instances being sacrificed in weight for lightness and resiliency. Punctures followed by falls and other narrow escapes have been unpleasantly frequent of late.

The latest is a "revolver cycle handle." It is in all respects an ordinary handle which will fit the tire of any machine, but it can be quickly withdrawn and is at once ready for use.

Some cities, in making laws for cyclists seem to imagine, says a contemporary, they have room on their wheel for a full brass band and wonder why they do not carry one to warn pedestrians.

George Taylor has made another change in his mount, the fourth this season. He has given up the Victor and is now riding an Orient. Leeming is with him as trainer, but neither one is drawing a salary.

Bronxville is the first city in the United States to recognize wheelmen in the matter of specially prepared roadways, the road to Coney Island, five and one-half miles long, having been built with that purpose in view.

Governor Flower, of New York, states that he has appointed all wheelmen in the Empire state as special aids to watch pathfinders and high way commissioners, and report any delinquency in the working out of the highway tax.

Cycling Life says: "Taxis and C. M. Murphy are bitter enemies. The former declares that several times Murphy has been the cause of his being injured on the track. At the Ripon (Wis.) meet Murphy cut across Sanger in the three-mile race, and was protested by Taxis. Murphy denied Taxis' right to protest, but the officials refused to listen to him."

A bicycle ordinance has been passed in Trenton limiting the speed to eight miles an hour between city blocks and four miles an hour at street intersections. Bells which may be heard at a distance of thirty feet are also required. The penalty for violation of this law is a fine of $10. There is a clause in the ordinance which makes exceptions in case of racing, when the chief of police is authorized to grant special permits allowing faster riding.

Two Lives Saved. Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her. She says she saved her life. Mrs. Thomas, 130 Florida St., St. Francis, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, and without result. She then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results of which these are examples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at Matthews Bros., Drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.

MOVEMENTS OF OUR MUSICIANS

Forecast of Some of the High Class Events of the Coming Winter.

THE CHOIR VACATIONS ARE OVER

Regular Musical Services Will Be Given at the Various City Churches. Madame Blauvelt Will Again Visit Scranton—Contemplated Enterprises of Professional and Amateur Character—Brief Points Concerning Well Known Local Artists.

Mme. Blauvelt will appear at the Frothingham theater on Oct. 15, at a benefit given for St. Luke's free kindergarten, under direction of Mrs. O'Garra. The local vocalists who will assist at the entertainment are Miss Ella Marie Dreager, solo contralto, and Mr. Alfred Wooler, tenor, of Elm Park. The entertainment will be one of the most elaborate ever given at the Frothingham and will be a society event in many respects. The stage will be draped especially for the occasion and will contain an elegant drawing room setting. The greater portion of the audience will appear in full dress and the occasion will be one of brilliancy. Mme. Blauvelt is too well known to Scranton audiences to need other introduction than the announcement of the date of her appearance. The fact that she will appear is sufficient assurance that the entertainment will be of a high class.

Application blanks for those who wish to join Mr. Lindsay's chorus may be found at Powell's. As Mr. Lindsay's recommendations are of high order he will undoubtedly receive the hearty support of all Scranton musicians and will probably have no difficulty in organizing a large chorus. The benefits of chorus singing are many even to the vocalist who sings for amusement only, and the general health of people subject to pulmonary complaints is invariably improved by chorus practice that is indulged in with moderation under direction of competent instructors.

The music committee at the First Presbyterian church is still undecided in the matter of selecting an organist to fill the position held so many years by Miss Stella Seymour. Numerous applications have been received and the excellence of the talent offered makes the selection the more difficult. It is probable, however, that an organist will be engaged permanently during the present month.

Organist George Carter has recently received overtures from the managers of Paderewski who desire to bring the great artist to Scranton under Mr. Carter's management. As Paderewski usually receives from $1,500 to $2,000 for an evening's entertainment it is doubtful if any Scranton musician will be induced to assume the responsibility of an appearance in this city.

The regular choir at Penn Avenue Baptist church will be on duty again tomorrow, all members having returned from their summer vacations. The music will be rendered by Mrs. Lizzie Hughes Brundage, soprano; Miss Margaret Jones, contralto; David Stevens, tenor; Miss Florence Richmond, organist; and John T. Watkins, baritone and director.

The well known musical director, Tallie Morgan, has again been engaged
